THREE DIRECTORS ARE RESPONSIBLE

Decision of Judge Ingram in Newport News Savings Bank Case.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NEWPORT NEWS, VA., October 30.—Judge John R. Ingram, of the Law and Equity Court of Richmond, sitting in Corporation Court of this city, by vernor Swanson's designation, today delivered an opinion holding Dr. Irene Porter Jones, Dr. Carter Perkins and A. T. Pulliam, former directors of the wrecked Savings Bank of Newport News, liable to the depositors for the institution for the amount of their deposits, about $25,000.

Dr. Perkins was nominally cashier of the bank as well as a member of a board of directors, at the time the institution failed. The other two directors, Dr. Jones and Dr. Perkins, were not in the bank at the time of the failure. The court held that the three directors were responsible for the failure of the bank, and that they were liable to the depositors for the amount of their deposits. The court also held that the three directors were liable for the amount of the bank's debts.

This suit has attracted more attention than any case ever tried in the city, because of the prominence of the people involved and the tragedy which followed the closing of the bank. When Tucker found at his home his limit and his share of the bank's assets, he was told that the bank was closed and that he was to go to the court to see what he could do.

The court also found several other defendants guilty of retailing and fined them.

SAYS COX PAID HIM TO WITHDRAW

Testimony of J. P. Fraley in Trial of Newport News Councilman.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NEWPORT NEWS, VA., October 30.—During the trial of E. C. Cox, the Councilman who is charged with soliciting a bribe from representatives of the Cleveland Trinidad Paving Company, today J. P. Fraley testified that he was given a note by Cox in consideration for his withdrawal from the race for the Democratic nomination for constable, and that Cox told him he would pay him $1,000 if he withdrew. Fraley also testified that he received $1,000 from J. W. Davis, the contractor, who recently laid some brick streets in this city.

MUST GO TO PENITENTIARY.

Man Sent to Insane Asylum is Later Tried for Murder and Convicted.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILSON, N. C., October 30.—An interesting case was tried in Superior Court here today. On Christmas Eve, 1907, Roy Gosha went to the home of Sarah Armstrong, in this city, and killed her with a butcher knife. Gosha then was pronounced insane and sent to the asylum. Recently authorities there pronounced him sane and he was returned here for trial. His defense today was insanity, but he was convicted and given ten years in the penitentiary. No appeal was taken.

Taft to the Emperor. WASHINGTON, D. C., October 30.—The following is a text of a message sent by President Taft to the Emperor of Japan, expressive of his sorrow at the death of Prince Ito:

"I extend to Your Majesty and to the Japanese people my profound sympathy in the great loss sustained by you in the death of Prince Ito. I enjoy the honor of the friendship I cannot too strongly condemn the wickedness of his murderers."

Lester came here from Danville several days ago, and was arrested by a special officer as he was endeavoring to secure work in the cotton mill.

Nocturnal Raids. Religious Workers Will Invaade Homes of the Poor. WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—An invasion of the homes of the poor at night when the inmates shall have retired is to be one of the newest moves designed for the religious, moral and sanitary uplift of the national capital.

Nocturnal descents upon homes are to be made, it is said, by the Rev. Zed H. Copp, probation officer of the District of Columbia. Armed with a camera and flashlight apparatus the probation officer, it is said, will secure photographic evidence of the conditions that prevail when the mantle of night has fallen upon homes.

He will have informed himself previously as to the relations and degrees of consanguinity existing in the homes he will select for his visits. Homes of the whites as well as those of the negroes will be entered.

Upon these tours it is even said news-papers men will be taken. The purpose apparently is to inform the public of such conditions as may be found to exist. Reports, too, will be made to the judge of the juvenile court.

The probation officer is quoted as follows regarding his proposed expeditions: "This particular phase of the life of the poor has been so far overlooked by the juvenile court. I don't believe that a general thing we will find conditions very bad, but I am confident what we do discover will prove a valuable enlightenment to the general public. Little thought is given at the present time to

FIGHT NEARLY OVER

Professor Philip Looks for Early Disappearance of Tuberculosis. EDINBURGH, Oct. 30.—Everything points to the early and final disappearance of tuberculosis in civilized countries, according to Professor R. W. Philip, who in an address before the British Medical Association has just given his reasons therefor. The diminution of consumption, he says, can be accomplished within a generation or two by a concerted movement toward educating the public.

Recent widespread investigation, the professor says, points to one fact of supreme significance not hitherto recognized, namely, that tuberculosis is commonly contracted in childhood. Therefore, it must be prevented from attacking young children. Milk, he says, is not the usual cause, notwithstanding the popular notion to the contrary. The real agent is the relatively airless condition of home and school life. Thus, through the addition of tuberculosis to the list of diseases which are not only to be eradicated but are largely responsible for the aggravation of other diseases, the professor makes a plea for more radical measures.

Philip agrees with Dr. Mary Wollencroft, of New York, and her co-workers that tuberculosis is far more prevalent than health statistics indicate. Concerted action is, therefore, necessary to put homes, schools, factories and shops under sanitary control. Sufficiently preventive as well as a curative agent. Of tuberculosis, he says it is good only in light cases of consumption or in the early stages. When the system becomes laden with the tuberculosis toxin the addition of tuberculin only makes matters worse.

Treatment of individual patients, Philip says, must give way to or be supplemented by concerted action toward preventing the airless condition which breeds the disease. The main object is air for young lungs in the large cities, in the congested tenement districts. Air creates or restores health. Health restores life.

GIVES LIFE TO BIRD

Good-Hearted John McLeod Falls and Is Killed. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—While attempting to release a bird which had been caught in a ventilator at a fertilizing plant, John J. McLeod fell through the roof of the building and was instantly killed. While at work outside of the building McLeod saw the bird trying to escape from the meshes of wire screen which covered the exhaust pipe of the ventilator. Climbing to the roof of the building, McLeod was about to seize the bird when a portion of the ground beneath him gave way, and he fell. The man was hurled to the Methodist hospital, but the physicians there said that death had been instantaneous.

MEANEST OF MEN

He Has Been Found in Person of Dr. Charles O'Callaghan. CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—According to a bill filed to-day by Mrs. Irene O'Callaghan for a divorce, her husband heads the list for mean men. After reciting that she was married to Dr. Charles O'Callaghan on June 30, 1908, and that they have been separated since Aug. 6 of this year, she says that when her husband went out in the evening he always took the electric bulbs from the fixtures and hid them, making it necessary for her to go in the dark until his return, thus keeping the bills for light down.

Mrs. O'Callaghan says that when he discovered she owed the grocer $2, he declared that it was rank extravagance, and said that he could not pay any such bills. She says that he is worth $50,000, and wants provision made for her maintenance.

WILL GO TO JAIL FIRST. Son Will Not Support Father, Who Deserved Family. CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The prospects of John Griffin, eighty-seven years old, becoming a charge on his family, whom he deserted thirty-seven years ago, were spoiled when Judge Williams made the following ruling:

"A father not willing to regard his children as a liability when they are powerless to help themselves is not entitled to consider them an asset when they are enjoying the fruits of prosperity."

Griffin's four children told the court of the wretched existence of their dead mother, and how she labored at the laundry to educate and clothe them.

Griffin disappeared in 1872, when a warrant was sworn out for him for beating his wife, and returned only a few days ago, saying he had been all over the world.

In leaving the courtroom the son said: "I am worth at least $20,000, and am willing to make a donation to any worthy person who applies to me for aid, but that old man will never get a cent from me. I'd go to jail first."

Wright Machine Has Mishap, But Injures No One. COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 30.—Without warning the machinery of the Wright aeroplane slipped to-day while Lieutenants Humphreys and Foulou were rapidly traveling over the government's aviation field here.

The mishap was at an altitude of about twenty-five feet when the engine slipped and Lieutenant Humphreys, who was in control with Lieutenant Foulou as a passenger, pulled a lever to make a landing as usual. The aeroplane came down in good position without injuring either itself or the passengers. A cog of the gear wheel attached to the magneto had broken and this caused trouble.

Only fifteen minutes before the accident Mr. Wright arrived on the field, after an absence of two days. As soon as the mishap was reported back to its shed, Mr. Wright went to work to make temporary repairs, but the wind rising

It is stated that $500,000 in cash and an equal amount of securities were in the bank's vaults.
